- The responsibility to correct the environmental conditions that exacerbate asthma depends upon if it's caused by tenant or owner neglect. The parent is always told about environmental housing concerns whether the dwelling has them or not and accompanies the inspector on the environmental home assessment inspection. When the parent does the walk through inspection with the asthma team, it provides them with some knowledge of what to look for when checking the dwelling for unsafe and hazardous environmental living conditions.

Asthma and Healthy Homes

- There was a total of 27 initial healthy home Inspections conducted between July 1, 2012 and June 30, 2013. The inspections included conducting visual assessment of the environmental living condition of each property. The walls, ceilings and floors along with other interior and exterior building components were inspected for sound condition and in good repair. There were five letters sent to property owners and twenty- six letters sent to parents that identified environmental conditions and housing violations that needed to be corrected prior to the next visit. We also distributed a Healthy Homes Book, EPA asthma information, asthma triggers warning signs, smoke detector, carbon monoxide, lead, roaches, and mold to the parent.

Program Improvements

- Be flexible and consumer friendly
- Staff should include both nurses and housing code inspectors or sanitarians
- Keep a high profile in the community by joining local community groups and organizations with
